Title: Understanding Vulnerability and Risk – In the Context of Climate Change

Target group: The general public

Duration: 2:25

Style: Animation

1.2. Brief Synopsis

Climate change-related risk is complex and dynamic. How we assess it, will influence the way we respond to it as societies.

The purpose of the Region4Climate Risk Assessment Framework is to support a socially just transition to climate resilience.

Risk is located at the centre of the framework. In the Regions4Climate project, three key risks have been identified among the participating regions; coastal flood on built environment; heat stress on population; and drought on agriculture activity.

The short, animated film gives an insight into how these risks are determined based on the dynamic interactions of climate-related hazards, exposure, vulnerability, and – last but not least – by human responses to climate change.
